Taylor explained that HPSCI Staffer Bush is also asking for arguments for maintaining the [] allotted for []. The Director said that the alternatives will probably require at least that many people. Mr. Carlucci added that the option of returning to [] should not be foreclosed. He suggested telling the HPSCI that the personnel are now busy conducting alternative surveys and working on other sources of collection. The Director suggested that efforts begin to determine how many people would be needed to man the alternatives once the Presidential decision has been made. (Action: RM) []
